Adult Bibliography

Donegal County Council Library Service

Bibliography Introduction

Donegal 2016 sees an extensive programme of events and activities delivered across the county to commemorate the events of the 1916 Rising, to reflect on our achievements over the last 100 years and to look towards our future. The programme includes seven strands: Ceremonial, Historical Reflection, The Living Language/An Teanga Bheo, Youth and Imagination, Cultural Expression, Community Participation, and Global and Diaspora.

Donegal County Council's Library Service has and will continue to deliver a wide range of events as part of this programme, including a select bibliography for adults and another for children. The Library Service wishes to acknowledge the support from the Donegal Ireland 2016 Commemoration Committee in preparing this bibliography.

By its nature a bibliography is a snapshot in time, and no doubt many new publications will become available later in the year, making new research available and proposing new and alternative insights into the events of 1916. This bibliography includes publications from a wide time frame, which makes it possible to see many different approaches and different viewpoints and to trace information and interpretations up to the present day.

The bibliography is not intended to include every single publication – rather it concentrates on books that are readily available in bookshops and libraries, including the Donegal Library Service. The online catalogue can be found at www.donegallibrary.ie.

For those who are interested in the programme of events taking place in Donegal, please check out the County Council's website at www.donegalcoco.ie. All Donegal events, as well as those across Ireland and indeed across the world can be found on www.ireland.ie.

There are also numerous online resources available, including many original records made available digitally for the first time during 2016.

The commemorations have helped increase our knowledge and understanding of the events of 1916 and I hope this select bibliography will help you to continue and to develop this journey. The commemorations have been positively embraced across the world to an extent no-one could have imagined. This bodes well for the future and our next 100 years.
